Resolving Family Business Problems

Don't let interpersonal conflict interfere with business goals. Learning to understand and deal with family members (and others) who don't share the same mind-set can help your family business achieve success. Dr. Saltzman assesses these situations and works with those affected to improve their leadership and communication.

Executive Coaching

Top executives are never satisfied with their performance. They know they can be better. That's what sets them apart, makes them the best. Dr. Saltzman observes their leadership and communication style, and works with them to be more effective leaders and communicators.
