

The Orange Spiel

January 2011

Volume 2011 Issue 1

Alabama Facts:

1. They say “y’all” a lot around these parts!
2. The “Tide” gets more love than the “Tiger” aka “War Eagle.”
3. The Beach is like sugar...we have not seen a tar ball! (BP crews patrol the beach each day.)
4. We have a par three golf course three miles away.
5. The Naval Air Station is twenty miles away.
6. Orville loves it here. He likes the elevator!

Trip Facts:

1. The trip to Orange Beach took 16 hours...stayed one night in Athens, AL.
2. Orville slept nearly the entire trip...never barked once in the car.
3. Heading to Chandler, AZ next year!

Ruth, Glenn and Orville are Spending the Winter in Orange Beach, Alabama

When we could not find a pet friendly condo in Mesa, AZ for this winter, Ruth located one in Orange Beach, AL. It is on Perdido Key, where we have always stayed, but ten miles further west. The condo is not as spacious as the ones of earlier years (Oh, that Orville) but we like the location better as there are more things to do. Ruth has managed to have three dinner parties already, and everyone fit, so I guess we can't complain.

I joined a golf or-

The Origin of The Orange Spiel ... peeling away ignorance.

When Saltzman Associates acquired the Orange Beach Gazette to complement the Mesa Courier (Inactive for 2011), it was determined that a new name was in order. Names considered were: The Orange Beach Buzz; The Orange Beach Bums; and, Stories About organization, which has two tournaments a week on different courses and this should be fun. There are two hundred members. We have hiking trails nearby and we have walked Orville about 2-3 miles each day...he has already lost two pounds!

We are joined on Perdido Key by our friends Jane and Jack Fender, Susie and Jim Waugh and locals Mary Lee and Charles Hansen. It looks like we will have a great winter. Andrew and Jill are manning the TL fort!

Orville. A focus group chose The Orange Spiel as the name most signifying avant-garde elegance and hipness. Who can argue?
