Our trip home became eventful when we were unable to start Ruth's car in Pendleton, KY. As unlikely and improbable as it seems, both of our remote starter batteries died at the same moment. After having no luck with AAA, a local resident, Gene Cook, and his wife Dianne, noting that we were having trouble, asked if they could help us...and took us to the next exit for batteries. While driving to Walmart, Gene said, "Glenn, don't worry, we will be staying with you until we get this solved." When I offered to pay him, he said, "I don't want anything for helping you and I won't accept anything." As we were about to leave, Dianne said, "When you go to FL next Winter, spend an night with us." It is folks like the Cooks that we all want to emulate. When I fear that our society is becoming less caring, we'll remember the Cooks.

Pictures (from upper left) include: flowers on golf course; GG Nick driving his Mercedes; our house March 17; and, the ever-present delightful and precious Harold Alan.

The snow in Kent was the only snow we observed on the way home from Florida. We had a great Winter and plan to return to the same location in 2019. Visitors included: Jo, Jill, Jeff, Judy and Caroline and George Melnykovich. We are grateful for our family and many friends.
